

TUNE-TO-SONG INDEX

(1987 EDITIONS)

Introduction

This document contains a “reverse” index showing which songs from the Salvation Army Song Book are associated with the tunes from the Tune Book. It is termed a reverse index because it is the opposite of the information already found in the Song Book, where the tunes associated with each song are listed at the top of the song.

This index grew out of the compiler’s experience as a corps bandmaster, where he was frequently confronted with beautiful hymn tune arrangements for which he could not find appropriate words.

Songs are listed by the first line of the first verse. Please note that articles (a, an, the) are included in the alphabetization. Songs listed in italics are those where the tune is listed as the first associated tune. This is supposed to indicate that it is the primary tune for those words, although sometimes the more familiar tune is not listed first. Not every tune in the Tune Book has associated songs in the Song Book (more than some people might think).

This document was prepared using the American editions of the Song Book and Tune Book. There are a few tunes which are duplicated in this edition because of copyright restrictions that prevent the words from being printed without the music.

Copying and Distribution

Many hours of work went into the compilation of this index. You are free to copy and distribute it however you wish, provided that the footer is included on each page. No charge or monetary consideration of any kind may be accepted for such distribution, other than reasonable costs of copying. The Song Book and Tune Book are protected by copyright. It is the compiler’s belief that this index does not violate copyright as it constitutes a “fair use” of the extracted lines from the Song Book (the titles of the songs are not implicated in copyright, as titles are not protected by copyrights).

An online version of this index can be found on The Brass Crest: <http://www.brasscrest.com/resource/tunebook/>
